S&L Depositor's Group, A.T.O.M., Share Stories of Morning March on Annapolis

by Sid Kastner

The action meeting of Community S&L depositors on Thursday, October 10, at Eleanor Roosevelt High School, took place on the evening of a day which saw an estimated 500 people march on the statehouse at Annapolis. The resulting interactions between people and their elected representatives, and the lessons to be learned from those interactions, were among several new issues discussed at length by A.T.O.M. leaders Dr. Lekh Batra, David Lange, Irene Hensel and Gaithersburg participants John McHale and Marge Hoban, who were present at the scene.

Coincident with the people's march, Lange had made a formal statement to the legislators' special joint session of Senate Finance and House Economic committees, which he now described. He told them, he said, that "We trusted the state, and now find ourselves in quicksand"; that the state had promised its "full faith and credit," and now, "on Tuesday, you heard the new definition of insurance"; that the state of Maryland has deliberately encouraged trust in the savings and loans." After several depositors—a retired seventy-five year old widow, a retired teacher, and a small businessman—testified that they were helpless because of the S. & L. freeze, Lange concluded his statement to the legislators by asserting: "From the banking viewpoint, these actions (on the part of the state) are understandable; from the depositors' viewpoint, these actions are unacceptable."

Nature Hike Set for Sunday

Enjoy the fall colors on a two-hour, two-mile nature walk along Greenbelt National Park's Horse Trail on Sunday, Oct. 20. Meet a park ranger at 10 a.m. at the Ranger Station. The walk will be cancelled in case of rain. For more information, call 344-3943.

Arts Center Hosts Halloween Party

Monday, Oct. 21, is the last day to reserve tickets for the Greenbelt Arts Center Halloween Party at the recently opened Greenbelt Hilton hotel on Saturday, Oct. 26.

Reservations can be made by calling 441-8770. This third annual fund-raising party will provide entertainment, refreshments, prizes for the best and worst costumes and a cash bar. The party will be held in the Chesapeake and Patuxent Rooms of the Hilton, and will begin at 9 p.m. and run about three hours, according to Konrad Herling, Arts Center President.

Batra described the march and its preparations as both "a heartwarming and heartbreaking experience, at the same time."

The logistics were started at six in the morning, using the "telephone tree" set up by A.T.O.M., which has branches each consisting of thirty telephones. The march itself was given maximum exposure by programs on six television stations (channels 2, 4, 5, 7, 9, and 13) and interviews by several newspapers. Prince Georges County Senator Leo Green, who attended the meeting, congratulated the march organizers for "the excellent presentation" they made to the legislature.

A.T.O.M. Group Urges Individuals to Lobby

The A.T.O.M. (Access to Our Money) group urges individuals concerned about the continuing Community Savings and Loan crisis to lobby personally by going to Annapolis on Thursday, Oct. 17 and Friday, Oct. 18. They will meet and be briefed in Room 322 of the Lowe Building (the delegates' office building) during this week's special session of the legislature. The phone number to contact for information is 858-3319 (toll-free). State delegates will be discussing the Chase Manhattan bank takeover and definitions of "hardship" cases.

John McHale of the Gaithersburg contingent related how he and three others met with Governor Hughes to convey the marchers' grievances directly. Among others, these were that "the MS-SIC sticker looked like the State of Maryland" emblem; that money frozen between May and August was a betrayal of trust; that "yesterday was full faith and credit," today it is "back-ended insurance" (echoing Lange's point); and finally that "We don't want Judge Kaplan or Melville Brown in front of this problem. We want Governor Hughes in front of this problem."

McHale added the interesting sidelight that in order to gain the interview with the Governor, after three fruitless phone calls directly to the Governor's office, it was only achieved by his wife's contacting Ohio activists, who called the Ohio governor's press secretary, who then called the Maryland governor's secretary!

The attitudes of some of the state legislators also came under fire from Marge Hoban and Lange, who related that one such elected official implied it was the depositors' responsibility to raise the money to solve the problem; Lange suggested this was like going to an insurance company after a robbery and being told they had no money to pay for it.

Greenbelter Irene Hensel, whose fiery leadership of the day's march was vividly pictured in the next day's Washington Post drew no punches in charging, "Why shouldn't we be angry—we were robbed; the high rollers gambled with our money . . . that is our money behind the locked doors of the Savings and Loan." Hensel emphasized the importance of increasing the numbers of marchers in future from the day's 500 to double that number, triple, even quadruple. She promised, "We're not going to sit back, we're going to fight back."

Proposed Items For Action

The main business of the meeting centered on what courses of action would be most effective.

Democratic Club Meets

Ellie Carey, Asst. Attorney General for the State of Maryland, will appear before the Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt Club at its regular monthly meeting on Friday, October 18, to discuss the state's latest civil and criminal legal activities surrounding the "Savings & Loan Crisis" that has created particular hardships for many Greenbelters. From her position within the Attorney General's office, she will be able to provide information which focuses on the efforts to prosecute those involved specifically in the Community Savings & Loan/EPIC case.

Ms. Carey also is an announced candidate for the Attorney General post that will be vacated by gubernatorial candidate Stephen Sachs. Her presentation will follow the club's business meeting which is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at the Greenbriar Community Building. For further information, call Gary Kohn at 474-8423.

The one and a half story Martin's Crosswinds has a canopy extending from a formal entrance to overhang a circular driveway. Exterior materials include Italian blue-veined marble, bronzed glass, beige bricks and a masonry white-beige coating system. The interior color scheme is predominantly rose with splashes of gold foils. Antique statuary, clocks, chairs and a porcelain urn in the lobby will set off the decor as well as a large gas, log fireplace. The facility was designed by Harrison and Crain Architects, construction is by Edgar Knauf, Inc. and Rita St. Clair is the interior designer. Fran Sewell is Sales Manager for the facility. A sales office is located in a trailer on the site to handle bookings.

Party Marks Construction Progress For Martin's Crosswinds Facility

by Elaine Skolnik

Over 700 guests gathered together on October 2 for a pre-opening celebration in the unfinished, cavernous ballroom of Martin's Crosswinds. Mud and rain did not dampen the festivities which were highlighted by strobe lights, old movies, colorful balloons and a lavish buffet.

Located on 8.5 acres in Maryland Trade Center Park (MTC) between MTC Building II and Holiday Inn, the catering facility is the chain's ninth in Maryland. The 41-acre MTC Park is at the intersection of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and the Capital Beltway and is within the "Billion Dollar Circle"—the area where construction of highly touted, blue chip projects has been moving at a fast pace.

Slated to open on January 11, 1986, Crosswinds will initially comprise 44,000 square feet and have a capacity for groups of 125 to 1,500 persons. Dividers will permit the large ballroom to be divided into smaller sections. Dependent on Crosswind's financial success, the building will later be expanded to 77,000 square feet, accommodating groups of 25 to 3,000 persons. After expansion, Crosswind's will become the chain's largest catering facility.

Booking figures to date have Martin's Board of Directors smiling. Martin's, Inc. president Martin Resnick said, "We had expected about $300,000 to $500,000 in bookings by this time. Advance bookings now total an overwhelming $1,454,000." Over 150 parties are booked from January 11, 1986 to 1987, with one scheduled for 1990.

While guests enjoyed the sumptuous buffet, Resnick, his board of directors and staff mingled with them to answer questions. Attending were state, county and city officials, members of the Prince Georges County and Montgomery County Chambers of Commerce, the Washington Board of Trade and potential customers.

In his remarks of welcome, Resnick thanked guests for "being part of what is a very important part of our life in the Martin's family." He expressed his gratitude to the Maryland

He also recalled, that without the government's assistance in the form of a Small Business Loan, he could not have started his catering business 20 years ago.

Accolades also went to former County Executive Larry Hogan. "Without his support, encouragement and prodding, we would not be here," said Resnick, adding "This support was picked up by County Executive Parris Glendinning." The Greenbelt City Council also drew praise.

Martin's employs about 1,000 persons and has a payroll of $4 million in their present operations. Upon completion of Phase II, there will be a full & part-time staff of 293.

Martin's other facilities are located in the Greater Baltimore area. The "economic benefits to the communities (where they are located) have been considerable," noted a Martin's spokesman. He anticipated that the operation in Greenbelt would generate $805,000 in new state, county and city taxes and $2.5 million in purchases from local suppliers of goods and services.

Observations

To the Editor:

In reacting on the recent city council election I feel compelled to share with you my retrospective observations.

It was, for me, a great privilege to be among a field of candidates whose dedication, commitment, and varied expertise have served our community in so many productive ways over the years. The election results clearly indicate that the leadership potential on this year's ballot presented voters with unprecedented choices. I cannot recall any election in which two unsuccessful candidates received 50% of the vote.

As one of those two candidates, I am honored to have earned the confidence of half the city's voters, and grateful to you for your support.

By the time one has been sufficiently active in the community to seek a seat on city council, the typical terminology of "winners" and "losers" no longer applies. The candidates are all winners who assume differing roles in accordance with the election returns. The citizens of Greenbelt are winners because each of the unsuccessful city council candidates presumably will continue to serve the city in various important leadership capacities. And it is, and always has been, the combination of elected officials and dedicated volunteers, working in concert and cooperation, that makes Greenbelt a great place to live.

Alice In Blunderland Coming to Greenbelt

A large audience is expected Sunday, October 20 at 4 p.m. at Greenbelt Community Church to hear and see "Alice in Blunderland." Visiting contingents from surrounding communities have indicated their intention to attend what will probably be the "one performance only" of the season in this area.

With music and lyrics by Tim and Tom DeFrane, the humorous but thought-provoking play is subtitled "Reflections of a Nuclear Age." It has attracted increasing interest nationally after its initial performance in northeastern Ohio in 1982 — a total audience of more than 50,000.

In the Washington metropolitan area the Dumbarton Players, of Georgetown, involves 60 persons in the production and is one of the two performing ensembles. Negotiations for a Greenbelt performance began last spring with the Georgetown group. As is their custom, they will be reimbursed by a free will offering.

Government Job Openings

Clerical and professional openings in the Consumer Affairs and Mail and Order Processing Divisions of the United States Mint are being offered to qualified applicants. Two Sisters Honored By St. Hugh's Parishioners

St. Hugh's Parish honored the Sisters of the Holy Cross at a reception in Grenoble Hall on Sunday evening, Sept. 29. The event was planned especially to honor Sister Elizabeth Raffo and Sister Katherine Wingfield who have left St. Hugh's parish after many years of service. After ten years at St. Hugh's as teacher and principal, Sr. Elizabeth has taken a year's leave of absence in order to care for her ill father.

Many other Sisters of the Holy Cross attended to applaud Sr. Elizabeth and Sr. Katherine for their contributions to the Order as well as to St. Hugh's. Many of the parishioners enjoyed renewing acquaintances with Sr. Collette Marie and Sr. Rose Cecelia, former teachers at the school.

The Sisters began their association with Greenbelt in 1949 when six nuns moved into 59-B and C Crescent Road. The new convent had been prepared by families eager to welcome them and the education the nuns offered their children.

Community support eased the difficulties of the first months when classes were held in the Greenbelt Theater. This was quite an accomplishment, as 211 first through fourth graders were part of that first venture. The school and church building were completed and dedicated in November, 1949. Each year the school added a grade, so that those earliest fourth graders made up the first graduating class in June 1954.

Many of those who worked so hard to help establish St. Hugh's school and church in those early years are names still familiar in Greenbelt. The first Parents Guild president was Joe Fitzmaurice, with Mike Burchik as his vice-president. Rita Wiser was perhaps the person with the longest and closest relationship with the Sisters. She faithfully and efficiently prepared dinner at the convent each day and assisted in many other domestic chores for over 20 years.

As Greenbelt grew, so did the active participation of the Sisters of the Holy Cross in the community. An annual event was the St. Hugh's Bazaar, its goal being to raise funds for the school. These bazaars were highlighted by appearances from such television personalities as Pick Temple and Dick Mansfield, appearances enjoyed by the entire community.

Cooperation between Greenbelt and St. Hugh's goes back to those early years when the city bus routes were planned with St. Hugh's school schedule in mind. Another area of cooperation was the agreement made with Woodland Hills under the direction of President Tony Madden to preserve the area across from St. Hugh's as permanent woodland.

Through the years the warmth of feeling between the Sisters and the community has grown. Most recently, senior citizens and shut-ins have benefited from the ministry of Sr. Katherine, who was often seen walking through the city on her round of visits. Though not currently occupying the convent, the Sisters of the Holy Cross are still represented in Greenbelt by Sister Francis Virginia, second-grade teacher at St. Hugh's School.

As was stated at the reception, the Sisters of the Holy Cross have strong ties with Greenbelt and look forward to resuming their longstanding commitment and involvement with the community.

Original Furniture Shown In Museum Exhibit

An interesting exhibit of original Greenbelt furniture was presented to the public in the lobby of the Utopia theater on Groundbreaking Day, Oct. 12. This first exhibit presented by the Museum Subcommittee of the Fiftieth Anniversary Committee featured a grouping of original Greenbelt furniture—armchair, two tables, and a floor lamp—photographs from the Thirties, and the furniture contract of Sherrod and Dorothy East, one of Greenbelt's First Families. They purchased their furniture on August 25, 1939, and paid $15.92 for an amber maple bed, $11.00 for two night tables, and $5.00 for an armchair.

Also shown was a 1937 wood carving of a family group by Lenore Thomas, on loan from Mrs. Rexford G. Tugwell. This was a rare opportunity to see more of the work of the sculptor of the statue in the Center that has become a symbol of Greenbelt.

The museum's Collections Committee is chaired by Michelle Thompson. Those assisting with the exhibit were Martha Sinden, Robert Thompson, Linda Warner, Dorothy Lauber, Barbara Havelkost, Bill Holland, Leta Mach and Dorothy and Joe Sucher.

The exhibit marked the start of a membership and fund drive by the Friends of the Greenbelt Museum, which has as its goal 100 members and $10,000 by next April, when the campaign will climax at a Museum Gala.

Floyd and Kennedy At Utopia Theater

The rhythms of music and dance will flow through the Utopia Theater on Saturday evening, Oct. 19 and Sunday, Oct. 20, as Diane Floyd and Joe Kennedy are presented in concert.

At 8 p.m. and 2 p.m., the performances will feature two artists known throughout the metropolitan area, for their improvisation (like that of jazz musicians) makes each performance a unique moment of careful structure augmented by free expression as the mood strikes them.

Diane Floyd is both artistic and administrative director of Saturday Company, a seven-member dance company which creates and performs workshop programs especially for children. With the company, and on her own, Floyd has received the praise of critics in the Washington Post, the Washington Star, and from audiences at Glen Echo and other performance spots.

Kennedy employs many instruments—including his own voice—to create a flow of sound both predetermined and spontaneous. He uses synthesizers, flutes, bells, drums and whatever else is at hand to produce his music.

George Jackson, in a Post review praised Floyd's choreography of Saturday Company performances. This weekend, she will present her art and herself as, in the words of critic Anne Marie Welsh: "a dancer of extraordinary clarity and presence . . . a sheer pleasure to watch."

Alice Carneal, who in 1935 lived with her family at the site on Ridge Road now occupied by the Lakeside North apartments, turns the first shovel of earth commemorating Greenbelt's groundbreaking, October 12, 1935. Mrs. Carneal, who now lives at Green Ridge House, is flanked by her sons, Allen and Jim Carneal.

Anniversary Committee Gets Humanities Grant

Greenbelt's 50th Anniversary Committee is the recipient of a $5,000 grant from the Maryland Humanities Council. The award is designated for the committee's project "Greenbelt: A Vision for the Future," a three-day conference on Greenbelt and planned communities scheduled for April 1987.

"We are very happy to have received this award," said committee chairman Sandra Barnes, who is also project director for the conference. "This grant will enable us to bring important speakers to the conference as well as to fund a special photographic exhibit on the planning features of Greenbelt."

The purpose of the conference is to celebrate the significance of a planned community born out of the Great Depression, the product of New Deal visionaries. Greenbelt is unique for its cooperatives, the quality of life it has fostered, its planning and Art Deco features. Greenbelt has also served as a model for many planned communities in this country and abroad. The conference is expected to draw historians, planners, architects and interested citizens from the Washington area and throughout the country. It will be one of the centerpieces for the 50th Anniversary celebration in 1987.

Roosevelt Center Assoc. Meets, Elects Officers

The new Roosevelt Center Association elected officers at its fourth weekly meeting on Thursday, Oct. 10. The officers are: Mike Burchik, chair, of the Co-op Supermarket; Linda Callahan, assistant chair, of Chris & Lindsay; Leo Walder, secretary, of Behavior Service Consultants, Inc.; and Joe Natoli, Jr., assistant secretary, of Joe's Carryout.

The Roosevelt Center Association will meet Thursdays, 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. in the Council Room of the Greenbelt City Hall. All Center merchants, professionals and agency representatives are invited.

First Families View

Some 50 First Family members (those who were the first to move to Greenbelt in 1937 and 1938) gathered at the Utopia Theater Saturday, October 12, to celebrate with other Greenbelters the 50th anniversary of the groundbreaking for the city.

Murmured cries of "Remember that" accompanied the showing of "The City," which included scenes of Greenbelt as it was between 1937 and 1939, when the film was originally produced for the 1939 New York World's Fair. Bob Sommers, who appeared in the film as a 14-year-old boy, reminisced about his experience. "I had to wear the same clothes every day," he recalled, "and my mother sure got tired of washing them all summer long."

The new slide show prepared by the 50th Anniversary Committee evoked happy memories

"The City" at Utopia

as familiar scenes and people flashed on the screen. And the display of original Greenbelt furniture had special meaning to many.

On Sunday, October 13, the Greenbelt Lions Club planted a commemorative red maple tree near the bandstand in honor of the occasion. Special guests attending the ceremony included county executive Parris Glendening, State Senator Leo Green, County councilman Richard Castaldi, and Miss Greenbelt of 1985, Paula Clinedinst. Glendening took the occasion to note that 72 acres of county-owned green space in the city would be transferred to Greenbelt, and Mayor Gil Weidenfeld presented the citizens with a proclamation. Entertainment by the Greenbelt Concert Band, the Hill City Jazz Band and the Bavarian-Austrian Dancers rounded out the day.

CABLE CHANNELS AVAILABLE FOR CITY AND ORGANIZATIONS

by Libby Nau

Greenbelt's local cable channel, now entering its second year of programming, continues to provide the city with municipal coverage and a wide variety of individually produced programs.

The city's municipal channel, A-10, is reserved for local programming. Another channel exists, A-6, which is reserved for local programming for the northern half of Prince George's County.

The cable franchise in Greenbelt was signed on January 12, 1983, with Storer Communications. Last May, Prime Cable of Maryland, Ltd. Partnership bought the entire system, including the A-10 and A-6 channels.

Channel A-10 is used to broadcast such municipal events as city council meetings. Only authorized city employees can operate the video camera equipment, which must be used to cover a city event.

"The purpose of A-10 is to cover municipal news as well as anything of general interest to the people of Greenbelt," said Renee M. Bryan, the city's cable access programmer.

According to Bryan, all of A-10's funding comes from the yearly franchise fee. That amounts to between 3 and 5 per cent of the gross receipts received by Prime Cable, said William Hysell, Prime's general manager.

Guidelines for A-10 programming are strictly followed. Messages may be aired if they are Greenbelt-related. Advertisements, lottery information and political messages are not allowed.

Programming from non-profit sources other than the city government may be broadcast if it is of general public interest or includes coverage of Greenbelt residents.

In September, a little over $4,000 was spent to buy new equipment for the A-10 channel. The cable equipment package included one camera, a switcher, a monitor, a tape recorder, power supplies and blank tapes. Bryan says the new equipment will enable her and the staff to do editing, as well as switch between the two cameras to give the production a more professional quality.

Three more camera operators were hired to handle the equipment, bringing the staff to seven. Bryan heads one of the two teams of three and Mary White heads the other. Camera operators are Matt Herath, Eileen Gatens, Mark Bost, Rick Leventhal and Lloyd Hanna.

"This opens up a lot of doors for us because we can do a lot more," said Bryan. "The new equipment gives a little more life to Council meetings for people watching at home."

Although the one camera worked well, it was a little bland, she said. The two cameras will allow for more active coverage of the city council meetings. Split screen images will permit showing two people talking to each other even if they are spaced far apart.

As for increased posturing among council members because of the cameras, Bryan says, "No one is camera shy, especially the people at the podium."

Cable casting of council meetings began in 1984.

Future events to be aired on A-10 include the Adopt-A-Tree groundbreaking ceremony, the 50th Anniversary Oral History interviews, a profile of one of the first teachers at Center School and senior citizens' aerobics.

Bryan, a 1984 graduate of the University of Maryland, majored in Radio, Television and Film. She is a part-time employee of the city, dividing her responsibilities as cable access programmer for Greenbelt and as a camera operator.

A-6 Channel

The other local programming cable channel is A-6. Known as the "public access" channel, it is open to anyone who wants to put together a program and have it aired on television.

Any individual or group wanting to use the channel's service can do so free of charge. In order to operate the equipment, a person must first be certified. Prime Cable offers equipment and use of their main access studio in College Park to certified operators. They also provide a series of classes and workshops to help people learn how to use the equipment. Once finished with the training, an individual is certified and authorized to operate the equipment.

According to Hysell, "hundreds and maybe even thousands" of people have been certified. Although he did not have figures available on how many actually take advantage of this service, he did say there must be enough to run tapes on a nightly basis.

In 1984, the Public Access Committee was formed to serve as an ad hoc committee to the city council. "Its purpose is to suggest a permanent structure to administer public access programming," said Robert Zugby, chair of the committee.

The committee has recommended to the city council that a non-profit corporation be established to oversee public access programming. Currently the committee is drafting by-laws under which the non-profit organization can operate.

Other alternatives considered by the committee were: 1) to leave public access under the control of the city, 2) to make the ad hoc committee a permanent standing committee in charge of public access, or 3) to form a commission to handle public access.

"We find the non-profit corporation is the best way to proceed," said Zugby. He added that the implication for censorship of programming and potential government control were factors influencing the committee's decision to select an independent avenue.

Zugby hopes the city council will accept the recommendation.

Members of the committee are: Holly Carter, Harold Baldauf, Michael Donaghue, Margaret Horgenson and Anthony Langbehn.

"Public access interest among communities is growing," according to Cate Spillane of Prince Georgians on Camera. "The interest is out there and people are beginning to see that public access programming is for them."

"We're trying to reach the community and tell them that public access is their channel and they can use it," she said. PGOCA, a non-profit organization, has 200 members. It is open to anyone interested in using public access facilities in Prince Georges County.

- B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- C) Your qualifications:
- 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
 - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

by Sue Cornelius

With only 3 weeks remaining in the regular season, Greenbelt soccer is great. Our 6 year olds won last Saturday 3-0 over Kettering. April Collmer scored again for her team. Ken Barron scored on a well-placed penalty kick and Kevin Faherty had his first career goal, by playing his position (left wing) to perfection! It's wonderful to see these players learn new skills at practice and make good use of them at game time. Your coach is very proud of you!

Greenbelt 2 (8 year olds) beat College Park 2-0 last week and won 2-0 against Beltsville the week before. Good buddies Daniel Gomez and Jason Harbin each scored one goal per game for the last 2 weeks. Mary and Nicole Renzi are improving each week, and so is Shawn Wilson!

Our sole county team beat Hyattsville two weeks ago 3-1. Bjorn Johnson was very hot scoring two goals and Mike Kramer got himself a goal. Zaki Omar, Alex Collmer and John Fiege played exceptionally well. John stopped a penalty shot, which is unusual. Gabe Cahalan was awesome in the defense also.

The Lion's Roar

by Emory A. Harman

The Greenbelt Lions Club wants to thank the community for the generous response to their recent White Cane Days. Funds gathered will, as always, go toward helping the blind and less fortunate in our city.

So far this season, the Lions have sponsored bikes and trikes in the Labor Day Parade, supported the Muscular Dystrophy Program, and donated to the Lion's District 22-C Diabetes Program and the Greenbelt Convalescent Home. Other groups receiving the Lions' support include the Springhill Lake Elementary School Therapeutic Horseback Riding Program, Greenbelt's State Champion Babe Ruth Team, the city's 50th Anniversary celebration, as well as local residents needing glasses. In addition, King Lion Joe Wilkinson led a group of Lions during the Greenbelt Lake clean-up.

Don't forget, used eye glasses may be turned in at the Suburban Trust, the Barber Shop, the Greenbelt Credit Union and the Springhill Lake Pharmacy. If you wish to contact the Lion's Club, they can be reached at P.O. Box 677, Greenbelt, Md. 20770. Our motto - "We Serve."

Youth Football Update

by Jeff Keir

The 125 lb. Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club Football team played an inspired game against their Beltsville counterparts last Saturday, October 12. The whole team, offense, defense and special teams played 100%. On the opening kickoff March Brooking of Greenbelt ran the ball back for a touchdown. From then on the game was all Greenbelt in an impressive 13-6 team victory. The score is not truly reflective of the total dominance of the Greenbelt 125 lb.ers. Two impressive runs for touchdowns by running back Kevin Thompson were called back, as was an apparent touchdown pass reception by Barry Brown. The Greenbelt defense did not allow a Beltsville 1st down until the second half. Barry Brown had two pass interceptions with the entire defensive squad putting extreme pressure on the Beltsville offense. George Clinedinst ran for Greenbelt's second touchdown and John David Jimenez scored the extra point. It was a total team effort, each player, whether a starter, backup or special teams player, played extremely well.

The Greenbelt 125 lb. team plays its division's toughest team, Landover Hills, this coming Saturday night, October 19 at 8 p.m., away at Landover Hills. We especially would appreciate a good turn-out in support of the team at this game. A good turnout of parents, friends and Greenbelt supporters will inspire the players to another impressive 100% game.

In a losing effort against Bradbury Hgts., Mike Salinas of the Greenbelt 110 lb. Football team had an impressive 10+ yard pass interception return. Also Eddie Williams sacked the Bradbury Hts. quarterback in the end zone for a safety. The 110 lb. team plays Langley Park away at Magruder Park, 6:45 p.m., this coming Saturday, October 19. Friends, Parents and Greenbelt supporters are urged to attend to support the 110ers in this important divisional game.

Fire & Rescue Review

by B. Rowland, Jr.

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad responded to 65 emergencies in the first two weeks of October which included 19 fire responses, 36 ambulance calls, and 10 accidents involving personal injury. Two routine transports were also completed.

This Week's Safety Tip

This is what we in the fire service call "brush season." Fortunately, we don't face the same threat of wild fires as the folks out in the west, but we must all be careful of the many leaf piles that will soon be forming around town.

Avoid piling leaves next to houses, sheds, and automobiles. It would be best to bag the leaves. If this is not possible, try to avoid piling them in roadways and driveways. Small children love to play in the big piles so avoid driving blindly through such leaf piles. Call Greenbelt Public Works for disposal of the leaves.

Speaking of children . . . we hope that you have remembered that School's In - Slow Down

Christmas In

Williamsburg

Take Part in the Holiday Festivities

Join our trip to historic Williamsburg and Williamsburg Pottery Factory. The trip itinerary will allow you an opportunity to visit the Pottery Factory and the Historic Area.

From the very earliest times, Christmas in Virginia has been a time for a gathering of friends and family. Our group will experience the happiness and hospitable atmosphere in the capital city of colonial Virginia during this very special season.

The Grand Illumination will begin at 5:30 PM, following a Holiday Tattoo at 5:15 PM. Three fife and drum corps — stationed at the Governor's Palace, the Capitol, and on Market Square — will each present a tattoo. Then the roar of a cannon will signal the opening of the Holiday Season and occupants of Historic Area residences and buildings will light candles in their windows. Programs will begin simultaneously at the Capitol, Raleigh-Wetherburn taverns area, Palace Green, and Magazine. Flaming cressets will illuminate the buildings while narrations tell of their histories and former inhabitants. As the Christmas glow spreads across historic Williamsburg, performers in colonial costumes will begin a series of "entertainments" at three locations. The Capitol and Governor's Palace will be open for candlelight tours until 8 p.m. There is an admission to the Capitol and Governor's Palace (not included in the cost).

Devlin Calls For Action "Now" on S.&L. Crisis

Delegate Gerard F. Devlin of the 23rd District has called for an immediate release of depositor funds which have been frozen by action of Governor Harry R. Hughes, and has pledged not to support any bail-out program unless the depositor question is at least partially resolved.

Devlin, who is vice chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, a member of the House leadership and Greenbelt's senior legislator, in a letter to Hughes said that the "hardships faced by constituents in Greenbelt and other Marylanders have gone far beyond any acceptable level. Action must be taken now to free up at least some of the deposits which have been frozen at Community Savings and Loan since August 19."

Devlin told the Greenbelt News Review that during last week's demonstration he had a chance to talk to scores of Greenbelters and other constituents. "The message comes over loud and clear that it is long since time for the State of Maryland to honor the commitment it made to insure savings and loan deposits," he said. "The absolute freeze must be ended, and ended now."

New Greenbelt Firm Offers Image Aid

A new Greenbelt firm will provide "image consulting" for "success-oriented" men and women.

"Creating a polished, professional-looking image can be perplexing, time-consuming and expensive without the assistance of a qualified image consultant," says Judy Delaney, who, after four years in the image field, is opening offices for Judy Delaney and Associates in Greenbelt.

"Greenbelt was my natural choice for my new location," Delaney says. "It presented the best 'professional image' available."

Delaney has conducted lectures and seminars on professional image for corporations, sales organizations and special groups. She is currently affiliated with Beauty For All Seasons, an international color company; Personally Identified Clothing Choices, a computerized figure-analysis concept; and Xia, a manufacturer of women's professional wear.

GHI '86 Budget Plan Would Raise Fees, Add Services

by Sandy Smith

A five-million-dollar operating budget and a five percent increase in members' fees were two of the key figures in the proposed 1986 budget submitted to the Greenbelt Homes, Inc., Board of Directors at its regular meeting on October 10. The board was getting its first view of a budget which Manager Ron Colton described as one of the "most significant in GHI's history."

The increase in member charges was attributed to three factors: a rise in property taxes, an almost doubling of insurance costs, and loss of interest income due to use of reserves. The budget also reflected the provision of new services, such as improved maintenance of common areas, development of a handyman service, and modernization of playgrounds—services Colton characterized as requested by members and reflecting "their increasing pride in our community."

GHI Board and members will have a number of opportunities to review and discuss the budget: Finance Committee review on October 23; second presentation to board on October 24; presentation to the membership on October 29, 7-9 p.m., at the Library; and final board approval on November 21.

In a busy agenda, the board also selected a new contractor for the larger townhouse rehabilitation; directed management to draw up a policy for service-side additions on brick and block homes; and heard a report on the 6 court Hillside engineering study.

1986 Budget

Comptroller Don McGinn had the major responsibility for outlining the budget provisions. The major source of GHI income is member charges, accounting for almost $4.4 million of the five-million-dollar budget. Small sums are generated by services to GDC, garage rental, contract processing and leasing and interest income. The largest single disbursement is the $1.5 million NCB payment, followed by real estate taxes at $884,000, the cost of maintenance, $842,000, and $638,000 for administration, board, and committee expenses. This year's budget proposes a five percent increase in employees' salaries. Colton said "many of our employees have given long and faithful service to the Corporation. This increase recognizes their achievement and their value to the Corporation." He said that many employees were at the top of their grades due to their long length of service and therefore could expect no additional salary raise except the cost of living increase.

The 1986 budget calls for the continuation of many services at current levels but also proposes some significant changes. Management recommends expanding the GHI newsletter from four to six issues, developing new clinics and workshops for members, and reorganizing the GHI library. The Contract Processing and Technical Services Department will initiate several new programs including developing standard design and specifications for additions, revising the unit layout books, and drafting a long-range preventive maintenance and financial recovery program. The continuing project of reorganizing GHI's plans, specifications and technical drawings is a complex one, which will continue through 1986. Its goal is a complete catalog of accurate "as built" drawings for use not only by maintenance but also by members who wish to make additions or alterations to their units. The Fiscal Department will complete its computerized accounts receivable program.

Focus on Maintenance

A major focus of GHI's activities in 1986 will be the Maintenance Department. Management said that there is a general consensus among the membership that "we must do a better job of maintaining our common areas, which were somewhat neglected during the hectic pace of the GHI rehab. The budget also reflects a commitment of resources to modernize the GHI playgrounds."

A new program to start in 1986 is a handyman program. Many members require work on their homes, outside the scope of the maintenance program but too small for general contractors to handle. These jobs include such services as repairing or removing a fence, erecting a shed, cutting grass, venting dryers, or installing an additional electrical circuit. Members would pay for these handyman services. These fees would then offset the hiring of one of the three new laborer positions allocated for the maintenance department. Creation of these positions would probably reduce the need for summer help and contract work.

Continuing maintenance programs are replacement of rental garage roofs, slate roof repair, the swale drainage program, and tree trimming, removal and reforestation. Because of the large number of trees which had to be removed in 1985, GHI proposes developing a nursery in the old boat and trailer yard and growing its own trees and shrubs. Seedlings and scrubs can be purchased inexpensively from the State Forest Service and used over the next three to five years to replace diseased stock at a significant cost savings compared even to bulk nursery purchases.

An unknown in this year's budget is the interest rate on the NCB loan. GHI currently is paying 13.25 percent. It is expected that the rate will either remain the same or decline, when it is set next June, to apply for the next five years. If a reduction occurs, then GHI will need to take action—decreasing member charges, setting aside additional reserves, or upgrading and adding services. In his final remarks, McGinn commented favorably on the length of time for board, committee and membership review and discussion of the budget. He offered to answer questions and go over budget details upon request.

Larger Townhouse Rehab

The board unanimously passed for first, second and final reading the proposal of Mead Alumnium for the installation of vinyl siding, replacement windows, and replacement sliding patio doors for the 29 larger townhouses at a cost not to exceed $100,000. This company submitted the lowest bid and had slightly more favorable references among the three contractors GHI was considering.

The selection of Mead is a change from the contractor, ABA Associates, with whom a contract for this work was approved for first reading by the Board at a September 19 meeting. The vinyl siding colors offered by Mead were more popular among the residents of the larger townhouses. The board voted to limit window color choice only to white. The board also approved a contract to construct a series of french drains around these homes.

Masonry Service-side Additions

Service-side additions on brick and block homes have traditionally not been approved in GHI.

Therefore when a request from long-time GHI members, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moore, for just such an addition to their home in the 9 Court of Ridge Road came before the board, the directors hesitated to approve this addition and thus set a precedent against current policy. Although generally sympathetic to the need of the Moore's for space, and granting that the size and structure of the addition were appropriate, the board decided to table this particular request and have management draw up to policy on service-side additions. The board recognized that other members may want such additions and that a general policy was preferable to case-by-case action. Management promised quick action in developing the policy; board member Ray McCawley suggested that frame service-side addition rules might be applied with certain modifications.

6 Court Hillside Engineering Study

GHI extended the contract to complete the engineering study, believing that the true source of the water problems in this court is now being identified. Run-off water and clogged footing drains appear to be the cause of the movement associated with excess water. The expected recommendation will be to drain the area with a mechanical system. Other units may need to be studied and may require work along these lines as well.

Problems with the trim painters appear to have been cleared up and the paint program, temporarily halted, will resume with greater field supervision and monitoring. Three board members and three staff members attended the recent ECHO conference at Alumnium City Terrace in New Kensington, PA. Approximately 60 people from 10 different cooperatives were present. Next year's conference will be held at Linmar Homes in Aliquippa, PA. GHI has volunteered to host the 1987 conference in conjunction with the city's 50th anniversary. The meeting, chaired by Vice President Wayne Williams in the absence of President Margaret Hogenesen, who was attending an NCB meeting, adjourned to executive session.

TO RIDERS OF THE

"GREENBELT CONNECTION"

Beginning MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1985, there will be a change in service on the Greenbelt Connection, the city's experimental bus system. In an effort to be more responsive, the fixed route system will be discontinued and the Greenbelt Connection will return to a Dial-A-Ride operation, serving the Greenbelt community.

Days of operation are being cut back at this time due to low ridership on some days. Bus service will be offered on Sundays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and on Wednesdays and Fridays from 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Persons wanting a ride should call 474-4100 as far in advance of the ride as possible, with information on where they are, where they want to go and when. If you have to leave a message, someone will get back to you as soon as possible.

Fares for the service are: Under 6 years of age - Free; 6-18 years of age - 50c; 19-61 years of age $1.00; and 62 and over 50c.

Suggestions came from both the meeting's organizers and attendees. Senator Green pointed out in his initial talk that one of the key parties on the ad hoc committee that is trying to divest Community S. & L. of its EPIC attachment is the federal agency FNMA (Federal National Mortgage Association, or "Fannie Mae") — so that petitions could usefully be directed to federal officials such as congressmen and senators.

The possibility of a class-action suit was again brought up, one depositor saying, "What can we lose?" Lange expressed reservations that such a suit might hinder the overall effort. Jim Bates agreed that a suit might be counter-productive, but suggested a different legal approach, namely to ask Judge Kaplan (the jurist in charge of legalities connected with the S&L crisis) to appoint a depositors' committee which would represent depositors' interests, "because I think there should be legal consequences (of the state's actions)."

Batra later pointed out, in connection with the idea of a class-action suit, that in one lawyer's opinion the filing of a suit does not mean it cannot be withdrawn in time to pursue other actions—so conservator Brown's warning against a suit was "rather simplistic."

Another listener noted that the legislator did not seem to be as informed on the crisis as depositors were, and that they needed to be educated. Batra responded that the A.T.O.M. group was working on this problem. Depositor Judy Neal of the Layhill area urged, "Start calling your elected officials — they're listed in (blue pages of) the telephone book" citing her own successful efforts.

Betty Maffay drew some applause when she advocated declaring Maryland a disaster area, saying this might embarrass the governor enough to achieve some results. Several others endorsed the view that "the responsibility is within the governorship of Maryland," and one participant reminded the audience that Governor Hughes was quoted early in the year as saying, "We have no savings and loan problems like Ohio."

Lange reviewed the progress made in one short month: a statewide depositor's organization has been created which has met three times and organized an effective march on Annapolis, making front pages and headlines and focusing media attention. He felt that "the legislators were moved today, but we need to push very, very hard through political action," and that depositors' efforts in the weeks ahead may prove to be a prelude to a culminating special session in January. Above all, he stressed in agreement with Hensel, "We need at least 1000 people (at Annapolis) the next time."

Ray Vidal, D.D.S.

Do some people have soft teeth?

Tooth enamel is 97% calcium and is among the hardest substances known. It is actually harder than bone. Enamel is the same in all people except in the case of a congenital defect where enamel formation has been genetically altered.

Contrary to some lingering myths, there is no such thing as "soft teeth", only a difference in the ability to resist decay. The physical factors that determine this resistance are tooth shape, alignment, contour, and spacing. Besides the physical structure of the teeth, there are 2 other factors, cleanliness and food quality.

The necessity to thoroughly clean the teeth daily to remove all plaque cannot be overemphasized. Although enamel is very hard, it can be dissolved by acids produced by the bacteria in plaque. This is the basic reason for daily brushing and flossing.

The type of food we eat is the third factor. Besides nutritional value, foods must be considered in terms of whether they promote or inhibit decay. Total carbohydrates ("sugar") content, stickiness and length of time in the mouth are all important. In addition, frequent consumption of sugar-rich foods also affects resistance to decay.
